Upon their arrival in Richmond Mr. Enos, the mate, telegraphed to the owners of their vessel and their friends informing them of their safety and whereabouts. The party were awaiting orders yester-day as to their future movements.

In yesterday's issue of this paper it was stated that Justice Isbell, presiding in the Police Court, had on the day before fined Mr. W. F. Hord for driving on a macadamized street. It was true that Mr. Hord was fined, but he has not paid it, nor does the intend to pay it. Hesays that his driver was taking a load of bricks from Dock street to Floyd street. As Main street—his

In the Gulf Stream all night and until 6 o'clock next morning, when they were sighted by the schooner Cumberland and taken aboard.

The Police Board last night reflected the following members of the force whose terms of office expire June 30, 1833: Captain James of the rescued men are as follows: M. Enos. Jr., mate; Antone F. Sylvia, boat-steerer; Manuel A. Sylvia, Walter Gray, Joseph Sylvia, and Clarene Sylvia, seamen; all of New Bedford.

They were certainly fortunate in being in the track of many passing vessels, for had they not been picked up so soon hunger and thirst would have soon begun to make themselves felt, as they had not an ounce of provisions or water in their boat.

When they left the brig (the mate says) a 65-barrel whale had but a short while before been captured and was then along-

FUN AND FROLIC YESTERDAY.

To the coroner yesterday.

A Premising Youth Drowned—A Little Boy Rilled—Weman Dropped Dead—Splinter of Steel in a Man's Eye.

Willis Clemmitt Thompson, son of Mr. T. R. Thompson, in business here as teamster, and residing at 328 west Cary street, was drowned in the river near Belle Isle yesterday morning. Deceased, who was thirteen years of age last November, left home about 7 o'clock in high spirits, intending to take a bath in the river before breakfast and return in time for school. He went off with two companions to a place in the river where he had sometimes been before. All three could swim a little, but young Thompson, it seems, having swum across a stream, attempted to pull up on a rock. The rock was slippery, and he could not get a hold. He streggled bravely to keep up, but his strength having been exhausted, he was swept off by the stream and sank in a pool which was far over his depth.

Witnesses of the distressing affair say else but a golden account of the manner in which they always bore themselves. Many an old Confederate soldier, spared from the hurtling missiles of death on the battle-fields of Virginia, will recollect this artillery organization and recall the pleasing sensations their presence always gave whenever a prospect of tough work or stubborn encounter lay abead. The Howitzers always were cheered by the infantry, and they worked so bravely and stood to their guns so manfully that they deserved the high praise that was so generously accorded them.
